LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., NOV. 12. The long duliness of the Federal City is broken by the new life and preparation incident to the appreaching session of Congress. Numerous workmen are engaged at the Capitol in fitting up the Senate Chamber and House of Representatives, to be in readiness for use. The hotels are filling up, and the streets are once more througed with people. Already several Senators and Representatives have arrived, who have come thus early to secure quarters for the season. As this will be the long session of Congress, extending perhaps into the summer months, it is quite important that members should make themselves comfortable. The new hotel, the "Arlington," situated on Seventeenth street and Jackson square, will be, without doubt, the fashionable resort of the winter. The otherandlolder hotels of the city, inspired into competition, are freshening, painting, and, to some extent, refurnishing-a consummation much required, and which, altogether, will make Washngton a more endurable city to the visitor than it has been heretofore.

The White House has been for some time past also undergoing a rejuvenating process. Foreign artists of skill are engaged in gilding and frescoing its ample halls, and otherwise decorating the Presidential Mansion, preparatory to the customary levees and receptions in anticipation during the winter. Indeed, a gay season is contemplated. Many of the foreign ministers and members of the Cabinet and Senators have secured large and elegant residences, with a view, no doubt, to inaugurate a general season of brilliant entertainments, diplomatic and international.

The President is engaged in the examination of the reports of the heads of departments, abstracts of which have been submitted to him upon which to base his annual message. The reception halls of the Executive Mansion are nevertheless daily crowded with office-seekers and other persons seeking interviews with his Excellency, and who engross most of

A large number of Government officers of the customs and internal revenue have been fitting to and fro on the anxious seat, not alone as regards the tenure of their office, but in reference to modifica tions of Treasury rules. There has been a regular game of "cross purposes" played for some months past between twesdledum and tweedledee, in regard to rulings, and geographical divisions have been obliterated in enforcing rules stringently resulting in "confusion worse confounded." The departments and themselves perplexed as to the admistration of the laws of different sections. Year by year the fallacy of imrosing a universal law for so diffuse a population and so extended a territory is becoming more apparent, and the attention of Congress will be called to the necessity of so amending the revenue laws as to make them equally effective in every section. Many of the regulations which suit one section are entirely ntagonistic to others, and their enforcement has led to many serious complications.

Commercial regulations and business customs differ widely on the Atlantic and Pacific, North and South, East and West. The rules adopted and enforced are of a general and not special character, and will not work advantageously to the Government in every section. Hence a modification of a more pecific character than hitherto broached will have to be made, or complications will continually ensueclogging the workings of commercial and manufacturing interests.

The forthcoming report of the Comptroller of the Currency recommends a change in the banking laws, so as practically to admit of free banking, If Congress acquiesces in the recommendation of the Comptroller to increase the circulation of national bank currency from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000, the increase of $20,000,000 will of necessity be apportioned to national banks in South and West, many of which institutions are now without currency. Of course new national banks will be chartered, and such a fight will be inaugurated as to the disposition of the currency, that Congress will be forced to pass a law equalizing the entire amount of $50,000,000 between the States of the Union upon a pro rata basis of population and wealth. The Southern States will, of course, be relieved from the present pressure for currency, but the New England States will be forced to surrender some of their national banks, for they have absorbed so far nearly one-third of the issue of $30,000,000. In any event, common justice to the business interests of the entire Union requires that national bank currency should be so regulated as to defeat the speculation now indulged in by Wall street holders, who "corner" the currency market by hoarding it and then sell it to Southern and Western banks, who are without currency, at from four to nine per cent, premium. It is a traffic at once injurious and vicious, and should be checked by wholesome legislation.

General Spinner, United States Treasurer, in his annual report discusses at length the question o' compensation to officers of the civil service of all grades. He has given much attention to this subject during the eight years that he has been in the service, and speaks in behalf of a system of compensation by which a higher order of talent may be secured to the Government. Since General Spinner has been Treasurer the transactions of his department have amounted to forty thousand millions of dollars, and yet not a dollar has been lost through any of his subordinates. A record which speaks for

They came to blows finally, and the result is that Dr. Wood was made managing editor, but is obliged to wear a beefsteak en one of his peepers, for he has (in Mississippi parlance) a fifteenth amendment-a dark A. ## THE SPANISH BANK.

It is Virtually Insolvent. The Spanish Bank issue in July last amounted to the enormous figure of $18,718,705, while its entire available and true assets were not worth more than $4.162,807, leaving the balance of $14,559,897 unrepre-$4.162.807, leaving the balance of $14,550,887 unrepresented by any trustworthy value whatever. In open accounts and accounts with correspondents the bank owed $5.89,072, which there was not a dollar of specie available to pay if called for. The total deposits were $507,315. Thus it appears that the liabilities payable at sight amount to over $20,000,000, while to meet them there is only $576,920 cash in the bank and $517,731 at the agencies; according to which the helders of fully $19,000,000 of the whole sum would have to wait or whistle for their money. The assets of the bank would, if real, perhaps make out a better condition of things, but how much they are worth may be judged from the fact that out of a total nominal sum of $21,480,189, no less than $20,678,567 consists of "Government habilities," that is, amounts to be realized from customs dues and taxes, for loans made by the Bank to the Government under an arrangement between them, which obliges the bank to advance the Government any amount it may ask, the former being authorized to collect the taxes and reserve the government at the amount it may ass, the former being authorized to collect the taxes and receive the payments at the Custom House, in order to reimiture itself. But the progress of the revolutionory movement prevents any large collection of revenue. Altogether, on the most liberal estimate, not more than $5,008,000 may be expected this year from the two sources of except that leaving the bank as to the former.

confiscated properties of the Cuban patriots, both these sums amounting to $22,000,000. How is it pos-tible to realize these liabilities on the fictitious bases of taxation, confiscation, and the general worthless-tess of the Spanish mortgage of Cuba?

AMOS KENDALL.

His Last Heurs—The Deathbed of a Good Man.
Says the Washington Star of yesterday, relative to the death of the old ex-Postmaster General:

His dying moments were peaceful and quiet, he retaining conscionsness to the last. Until 12 o'clock last night he slept very well, but after that seemed more restless. He awoke shortly before sunrise this morning, and requested that the bilnds of his room be opened, in order that he might see the san rise, the sight of which he seemed to enjoy. About eight o'clock he began to breathe heavier, and it was evident that the end was near. His family were gathered around the bedside, of whom he took affectionate leave, and expired about 5% o'clock, his last audibie words being "Joy! Joy!" When he first awoke this morning he seemed somewhat confused, evidently words being "Joy!" When he first awoke this morning he seemed somewhat confused, evidently thinking that he was about to start on a journey, as he cautioned his daughter, Mrs. Stickney, to hasten with the packing of the trunks or they would be late for the train. He soon brightened up, however, and was perfectly conscious until the last. He has been entirely resigned for several weeks past, having taken leave of his family about three weeks ago, and constantly prayed that the Lord would soon call him home, though he begged for grace to be resigned until it should be the will of Alinighty God to take him. nome, though he beggred for grace to be resigned until it should be the will of Almighty God to take him.

Mrs. Stickney, approaching his bedside yesterday, asked him if all was clear; to which he replied, "Yes, yes, all is clear, all is clear," Dr. Parker, of the Calvary Baptist Church, upon entering the room subsequently, asked him if all was bright; to which he replied, "Yes, all is bright, all is bright."

The Rumored San Domingo Expedition Offi-

The New York Times has the following in its Washngton despatches:—
The reported sailing of a naval expedition for San The reported saling of a haval expecition for San Domingo, which appears in some of to-day's New York papers, is largely sensational, and is denied here on official authority. The Albany, which left New York on Wednesday, was under orders to join the West India Squadron, which she will do after having landed General Babcock, special agent of this Government, at the Island of San Domingo. General Babcock, who was sent to that island last summer, and returned in August left, here on Tanadara. Government, at the Island of San Domingo. General Babcock, who was sent to that island last summer, and returned in August, left here on Tuesday last as the bearer of communications to the Governments of San Domingo and Hayti. What the nature of his instructions are is kent a profound secret here, though it is generally believed that his mission relates to the question of the acquisition of that island. The statement that a naval expedition is to take possession of the island is absurd, in view of the fact that that would be an act of war, and the report that it is to be surrendered to three commissioners is also absurd, when it is remembered that such surrender could only follow a regular treaty to that effect, which must have the assent of the Senate. It may not be generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact, that a direct proposition for the annexation of San Domingo was received last. February from President Baez, and now lies in the State Department. It came to hand just as Mr. Seward retired, and the knowledge of this fact was at the bottom of the efforts in behalf of a protectorate, which were made in the House at the close of the Fortieth Congress.

Mr. Seward's intention was to induce Baez and his Government to run up the American flag and declare their adhesion to this Government; whereupon lare their adhesion to this Government; whereupon we would send a vessel of war to protect them until annexation was complete. San Domingo is as anxious for annexation now as ever. Hayti does not appear so. It is desirable to secure the whole of the island, if possible, and it is suggested that the negotiations now going on have that purpose in view.

CALAMITIES.

A Little Girl Burned to Death—A Man Gored by a Bull.

The Carlisle Volunteer of yesterday says:—On Tuesday morning last Mrs. Baton, a poor woman residing on East street, went to wash at a fieighbor's house, leaving a little daughter, aged five or six years, and a younger brother at home. The little girl was just recovering from an illness, and was propped up in a chair with pillows. During the morning the neighborhood was saddenly alarmed by morning the neighborhood was suddenly alarmed by the screams of the little one, when it was found that she was surrounded by a burning mass of feathers and bed clothes. Her face, body and arms were terribly burned, and although every aid was administered to her, she died the next morning. It is supposed the little brother had been playing with matches and playfully threw one on the pillows surrounding his sister. The case forms another warning to parents never to leave matches within the reach of children.

On Friday morning last Moses Brocht, who resides on the north side of the Conodoguinet creek, immediately opposite the reservoir, met with a serious accident which terminated his life on the following day. He was attempting to chain a victous bull, when the animal turned upon him furiously, goring blank the abdomen and letting out a portion of the when the abdomen and letting out a portion of the bowels. Medical aid was summoned at once, but his injuries were of such a character that the physi-cians pronounced his case hopeless. He lingered until Saturday, when he expired. ## THE POPE.

Gifts Offered to His Holiness. The Pope's enthusiasm respecting the Council is said to be unabated. Not long ago a priest brought him a large sum of money from the ladies of a Ger-man diocese, and in accepting the gift the Pope in-quired whether the bishop was coming to the Coun-cil. The priest replied that he was too old, being in cit. The priest replied that he was too old, being in his seventy-first year. "You call seventy-one old!" exclaimed the Pope. "I am seventy-eight, and I eel young, and shall assist at the Council without neglecting my other duties." Under date of October 15 the Roman correspondent of the London Post writes:—"Apropos of st. Peter's, I near that the Marquis of Bute lately wrote to the Pope offering to replace the present glass windows of the portico of the church, which are really unworthy of so splendid an edifice, with single panes of massive plate glass for edifice, with single panes of massive plate glass for each window, reserving two of them for the arms of the Pontif and his own—not in color, but merely cut on the glass. His Holiness, after having consulted the architects of the reverenda fabrica, and the conomo, Monsignor Teodoli, instructed the latter to reply to the Marquis that there were at the present moment more urgent restorations required in the basilica than changing the windows of the portico, thanking his lordship at the same time for his generous offer, and hinting that the money required for carrying it into effect, estimated at 18,000r., would be acceptable for other purposes in the Church."

TRAIN.

The Most Exquisite Egotist of Modern Times. George Francis Train, the modest, the unassuming, the great, the magnificent, the magnifoquent, the unterrified, the powerful, the influential, the Democrat-Horse Railroad-Woman's Rights-big hotelbig Indian boy still lives, still flourishes, still raises his voice which rolls like the long-roll over the Western prairies! George is still in harness! George is still George Francis, and is the ecomoliye that draws no other Train than his own! But George is not no other Train than his own: But Seerge is not altogether the Democratic George he was in the past. It is to be feared he has "gone back" on the Democratic party, or has that party 'gone back" on him? Likewise, George is not so versatile on the woman question as he used to be—have they too (the dear Anthony, Stanton, et all owne genus) gone back on George? Also, who can sneak for our future. dear Anthony, Stanton, of the same genus) gone back on George? Alas! who can speak for our future President—but himself! We said George still lives. Yes, indeed. He has turned up. The clarion notes of his fiery trumpet have given no uncertain sound to the dealers of the benighted city of Chicago. He played a tune for the benefit of the Republicans of that city at the late election, the chief feature of which is that he wholly forgets "self" in his desire to help his friends. Hear him:—

Whose Union speeches ran through the land in 160-61-62 from English discussion halls? Mine. Who tions with the Government alone, with a balance on the wrong side of $12,000,000. In addition to this, the bpanish Government has ordered a fresh issue of notes to the tune of $12,000,000, guaranteed by the

Who carried two hundred thousand Irish votes against Seymour in 68? I did. Who is the chief of the council or eagles—that gigantic order that always decides the election with Irish votes? I am. Who defeated the English ring of Balcock, Belmont, and Tammany, inst spring, in Connecticut? I did. Who smashed McCoppen, the Peter Is. Sweeney of San Francisco, and the English party of California? I did. Who changed the election in Chacinnati October 14th? My Irish boya. When was I on the wrong side of national politics? What blemish is there on my reputation as a statesman? What had act have I ever committed? Who dever saw me do a dishonest thing? Am I not right on American industry? on currency? on the fifteenth amendment? on Chinamen? When did you ever see use tired? What object have I in always going against the tide of corruption but a noble one? I challenge any one to find a black mark on my character or stails on my honor—a practical moralist—an independent thinker, I cannot move in ruts of party or creed. We need reform in Church and State. In this contest the Republican party is right, Why not, then, rally around Gage, and break up the font conspiracy? Lose Chicago—you lose Illinois. Lose Illinois, and the nation will be sold out to the English ring. The Tribrie, Journal, and Republican are meet tools of the Times. Better bury the lot. Drop the party paper that sold out, and elect Gage. Death to Rensen.

A FORTUNE.

How a Vankee Made It.

A correspondent, writing from Dayton, Onio, re-lates the following:—

'It may not be impertment to tell how a Yankee it may not be impertinent to tell how a Yankee newspaper correspondent and poor printer threw himself into a fortune. At the close of the war Mr. Bickam came here. The Journal office, with good will of the paper and many poor accounts, was offered for sale. It occupied a dilapidated one-story shanty on Main street. Mr. Bickam proposed to the leading Republican merchants that he would take the Journal if they would furnish $5000 to $10,000, and give him three years' time to pay them. Such an arrangement was finally agreed upon. Mr. Bickam had no money, but was recommended by Prince Murat of the Cincinnati Commercial. The paper was turned over to Mr. Bickam. Each stockholder patronized the advertising columns of the Journal-very high rates for an interior city like this, I assure you. The Journal prospered. In less than six months after Mr. Bickam took it he presented bills to the stockholders for advertising, and in each case the bills were for a larger sam than the share of stock held by that stockholder."

The pressure for all kinds of loans was fully equal to the daily average, and the rates are very firm, especially for discounts. The supply, however, is good, if not absolutely sufficient for all wants, and the deficiency is not sufficient to account for the firm tone of the market

Money is readily accessible on call at 636 per cent, on prime collaterals, but discounts have advanced under the pressure of yesterday and to-day to 10 per cent, for choice double names, whilst single names are not in favor at any price.

The sales of gold are very light, with little fluctuation in the premium. Sales at noon are quoted at 126% on Third street.

There is very little doing in Government bonds, but the market is airm,
There was considerable activity in the stock market this morning, and prices generally were steady. Pennsylvania sixes, first series, sold at 102; City sixes advanced 12, selling at 1012 for the new issues. Lehigh Gold Loan was also stronger, and sold at 96.

Reading Railroad was somewhat firmer, but quiet. Reading Railroad was somewhat firmer, but quiet. Sales at 4815 cash and b. o. Pennsylvania Railroad sold to a limited extent at 50½; North Pennsylvania Railroad at 37; Canden and Amboy Railroad at 118 (81193); Lehigh Valley Railroad at 53½; and Philadelphia and Erie Railroad at 28½.

Canal stocks were quiet. Morris preferred was taken at 55½; 32 was hid for Lehigh Navigation.

Coal shares were neglected. In Bank stocks there were sales of Girard at 53½; and Mechanics' at 29½.

Passenger Railway stocks were without improvement. 40½ was bid for Second and Third; 45 for Chesnut and Walmut; 60 for West Palladelphia; 1135 for Hestonville, and 38 for Green and Contes.

This afternoon the Board will take action on the death of C. B. Wainwright, one of their most active and esteemed members.

HYACINTHE.

He Creates Another Sensation.

He Creates Another Sensation.

Writes a correspondent from Paris:—
The announcement contained in a telegram from New York to M. Ganesco's new journal, Le Parlement, to the effect that Pere Hyacinthe had attended the Jewish Synagogue in that city, has created great see adal among the faithful here. By way of revenging themselves on the reverend father for his backslidings, they have circulated a report that he has gone over to the United States to get married to a rich Boston widow, and that it is not his intention to return to France. I trust that the latter portion of the story is true, for I am sure the United States will feel proud to number the distinguished preacher. the story is true, for I am sure the United States will feel proud to number the distinguished preacher among its citizens. To whatever denomination he may attach himself, there can be no question that pure religion will always find in him one of its most carnest and eloquent exponents. It is stated that since the withdrawal of Pere Hyacinthe from the order to which he belonged, it is forbidden to the barefooted Carmellies to preach in public. A member of the confraternity who had been summoned to preach in Lyons the other day, was compelled to excuse himself on the ground of this prohibition.

THE NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

The following extracts show the state of the New York money market yesterday:-From the Herald.

"The money market remains easy at four to seven per cent., the former being the exceptional rate to the Government dealers on piedges of United States securities and the latter at bank and among the trus securities and the latter at bank and among the trust companies. On the street the prevailing rates on all classes of collaterals are five and six per cent. There is no change of rates in the discount market, but the feeling is no worse. The spaculators in the West seem inclined to try the old strategy of holding grain for higher prices, and hence the remittances westward, which have been no spasmodic in their career this season, are again light. Some curlosity is manifested with reference to the bank statement, inasmuch as the Government has sold three millions is manifested with reference to the bank statement, in a much as the Government has sold three millions of gold this week against the purchase of only two millions of bones, but the decreased shipments to the West leave little ground for the inference that the showing of legal-tender reserve will be unfavorable. The disposition to make time loads on pledge of collaterals is also becoming more manifest, the lateness of the season inspiring many lenders with the belief that a gatisfactory employment of their money in this way at seven per cent. Is preferable to holding it for the contingency of a 'squeeze,' and earning meantime only four and five, especially as the prospect of a squeeze grows more and more remote. In discounts prime Lames pass at ten to lifteen per cent., according to the time to at ten to lifteen per cent., according to the time to run and the character of the endorsement. Buyers have their choice of inferior grades at rates ranging all the way from 16 to 24 per cent.

"The Government bond market was strong and steady, but without other feature. The tendency to a decline which attends the situation of the gold market is in a measure checked by the ease of the money market, which induces speculative holders to hold on.

to hold on. "Foreign exchange was weaker in the forenoon

"Foreign exchange was weaker in the forenoon, but the purchases for Saturday's steamer cleared the market of the cheaper bills, and quotations closed firmer. The transactions in continental bills were quite a feature of the day's business, and francs were active and higher.

"The gold market was extremely dull, but strong, at 126% (212%). Nothing further has transpired as to the deliberations of the special committee on the subject of clearances.

the deliberations of the special committee on the subject of clearances.

"Losns of cash gold were made at seven to nve per cent. for carrying. At the Government sale of gold to-day the inillion was awarded as follows:—$50,000 at 126-63, $50,000 at 126-60, $50,000 at 126-64, $50,000 at 126-67, $50,000 at 126-68, $50,000 at 126-67, $25,000 at 126-68, $100,000 at 126-60, $310,000 126-20%, $100,000 at 126-69, $50,000 at 126-60, $50,000 at 126-60, $100,000 at 126-60, $50,000 at 126-60, $
